

Are you well equipped to represent your client in Mediation?
Sign up for a workshop on

'ADVOCACY IN MEDIATION'

Presented by

CAMP Arbitration & Mediation Practice Pvt Ltd

The Foundation for Sustainable Rule of Law Initiatives
(FSRI)

Lawyers are an integral part of the Mediation process. As the role of a lawyer changes from 'combative' in adjudication to 'collaborative' in Mediation, the skills and expertise required in Mediation vary.

This workshop will train legal professionals on:

- Differences between Mediation and Adjudication
- Developing a deeper understanding of the Mediation process
- Role of Advocates in Mediation
- Preparing for a Mediation & representing a client in Mediation
- How and when to recommend Mediation to your client
- The Do's and Don'ts while participating in Mediation
- How to negotiate a satisfactory Mediation settlement for your client

Certification

Certificates of Participation will be awarded by CAMP and FSRI to those who successfully participate at the workshop.

Why the training?

A lawyer trained in Mediation significantly increases the chances of a successful resolution at Mediation. World over the legal landscape is changing. Mediation is increasingly becoming popular as an effective ADR technique for resolving disputes in an expeditious, cost effective and creative manner. As a result, clients are seeking lawyers who can effectively represent them in mediation. To be effective 'Advocates in Mediation', lawyers need to understand the mediation process and build necessary skills to successfully represent a client in mediation.

Why CAMP and FSRI?

Laila Ollapally, the chief trainer for the workshop, is an internationally certified mediator, trained at Harvard Law School, visiting scholar at Stanford Law School and recipient of the Weinstein Fellowship at JAMS. She is the founding coordinator of the Bangalore Mediation Centre. She founded CAMP in 2015. Since 2007, she has mediated over 600 cases with a very high settlement rate. She has co mediated sensitive cases with former judges of the Supreme Court of India. Ms Ollapally and her team's expertise on how mediation works would be valuable for lawyers to counsel their clients during Mediation.

The training will be supported with an audio-visual presentation by The Foundation for Sustainable Rule of Law Initiatives (FSRI), an NGO based in San Francisco, California, that promotes ADR centers across the globe. FSRI has worked on mediation programs in the High Courts and District Courts of several states in India (including the Bangalore Mediation Centre), as well as in Europe and South America. The workshop will include knowledge sessions, audio-visual presentations, role plays, etc. Learn more about CAMP at campmediation.in & FSRI at fsriadr.org
